

Top graph is NY Times projected cases per day of CV19 infection growth curves based on their assumptions of 1) No control measures having been implemented; 2) some control measures implemented; and 3) strict control measures having been imposed. The dark vertical bars are my best representation of our scheduled meeting dates at the Canton Library. None of them look particularly good to me. I am willing to bet that the curve that emerges in reality will be a cross between “some” and “severe”.

The question is: will restrictions on public meetings be extended to the August time frame and should we be anticipating that? I am betting on at least July’s meeting time and I suggest that we avoid all meetings until at least the August date, and perhaps even cancelling that one as well. Please send me your thoughts!

Field collecting should be OK and good to go as we will be outside and physically separated. Your thoughts on that issue too!

Last issue is: what about the August show date? Make decision around June time frame or cancel for the year?? Would welcome your thoughts, suggestions, and input from the membership on this biggie as well; --Bill--
